

BOOK REVIEW

Why 40%-80% of Chronic Pain Patients Are Misdiagnosed and How to Correct That

Author: Nelson H. Hendler, MD (Former Assistant Professor of Neurosurgery, Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, Baltimore, MD, US)

If you are a plaintiff trial lawyer this book should be bought in bulk. Give it to every treating, referring, examining medical expert you know or want to know, because this book's practical approach to how physicians should best prepare for court or deposition testimony is absolutely priceless. If you simply copy or condense Chapter 11 ("The Doctor in Court") for your experts, you will earn their instant respect. Your clients will have a much better armed medical-legal team, and your settlements and verdicts will improve exponentially.

If you find, as I have, in more than thirty years of my professional personal injury practice, that some treating physicians tend to "overlook" and/or under-evaluate some persistent, permanent, "chronic" pain injuries, then you owe it to yourself, your clients and your experts to read and then utilize Dr. Hendler's trial-tested and proven method of understanding "Why 40-80% of Chronic Pain Patients are Misdiagnosed and How to Correct That."

If you only read one chapter of one book this year – read Chapter 13 "Why Chronic Pain Patients are Misdiagnosed." That one chapter will instantly improve your clients' cases, their ultimate monetary recoveries, and your bottom line.

Tom Vesper, Esq. is a trial lawyer in Atlantic City, New Jersey. He is the author of 30 books or chapters and more than 200 published articles on damages, and trial practice. Mr. Vesper is past president of the New Jersey Association of Trial Lawyers (now NJAJ). He has served an editor of the magazine Trial, and has lectured before all 50 state trial lawyer associations in the United States, as well as the National College of Trial Advocacy at Harvard and Duke University law schools, and the New Jersey Judicial Conference of Judges. He is a member of the Million Dollar Advocates Forum, and his firm has recovered over $250,000,000 in damages. He has served in the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve for 23 years.